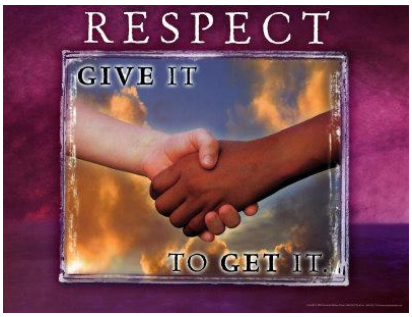
Respect

Passport to the World

Showing regard for the worth of someone or something. Cub Scouts will show respect and appreciation for everyone who helps with the pack. They will be courteous and show good manners at den and pack meetings.



PACK IDEAS

*Flight, bus ride, boat ride to destinations around the world
*Cookie exchange
*Celebrate different cultures by sharing food from around the world and discuss differences and similarities in customs around the world. You can use this theme for a Blue & Gold Banquet!
*Have boys write letter to people their respect/admire
*Celebrations around the world- share holidays or traditions.

MONTHLY HIGHLIGHT

Celebrate The Occasion

Our ceremonies often observe the importance of an event. We need to stop what we are doing and reflect on the moment. The range of events we celebrate this way is expansive from simple, personal to profound and universal. We stop doing our usual routines and honor something of value in our lives. We gather together, we hold a ceremony for the occasion. These moments are special and contribute to the meaning and spirit of our lives.

Recognize the Person

Our ceremonies acknowledge the importance and value of the individual. Ceremonies are formal opportunities to present awards and honors to Cub Scouts who have worked hard for them. Ceremonies are your chance to praise a boy's work in front of his parents, his friends and even in front of strangers, thus making him the focus of attention for a short, but significant period of time. At the same time ceremonies encourage other Cub Scouts to complete their own programs. The key to any and all Cub Scout ceremonies is the boy.

Monthly Core Value

Ever wonder how to incorporate the monthly core value into your den and pack meeting?
