CORE VALUE: COURAGE

*No one can determine the potential with his or herself.
Only God has the full vision of what we can become.
Our job/responsibility is to have the courage to open the window to His vision; and then, with humility and gratitude, work to reach that potential He sees in each of us.*

- Den Chief (or other boy) is giving wrong directions ----->

(cont.) The blindfolded boy is to listen to the Den Leader and follow his/her voice through the maze to the end.

- We should all listen to that still small voice inside of us to tell us what to do right.

Few men are born brave. You gain strength, faith, and confidence by every experience in which you look fear in the face and conquer it. Courage is the strength to face pain, act under pressure, and maintain one's values in the face of opposition. Soon you will be able to say "I can take the next thing that comes along."

PARENT GUIDE TO COMPUTER SAFETY

1. Be involved with your children and their computer use. Talk with them, establish rules, and make it known that violation of the rules can lead to a suspension of their online privileges.
2. Don't use the computer as an "electronic babysitter". Stay aware of and be involved with your child's online activities. Put the computer in a family room rather than in a child's bedroom.
3. Commercial online services have parental-control or "blocking features that allow parents to keep children out of certain areas. Internet web browsers are developing controls, and there are also software packages designed to block internet sites such as internet newsgroups, specific web sites, file libraries, and chat areas known to contain sexually-explicit material. Some software packages give parents the option of choosing which types of sites to block.
4. Set parameters with your children, such as having them agree they will never get together with someone they "meet" online without first checking with parents. In fact, parents should know if children are conversing regularly with anyone over the internet.
